

Photo Transfer Magic

check list:

1. a copy of a photograph
2. cardboard
3. scissors
4. craft paint
5. paintbrush
6. old towel
7. jar of water
8. scrub brush

1

Choose a copy of a photograph that you like. It could be from a magazine, or you could even photocopy a picture that you took on your camera.

2

If you want, use scissors to make your image smaller.

3

Cut a piece of cardboard a little bigger than the photo.

4

Take a paintbrush and paint the cardboard nice and thick. You can leave room for a border if you want.

5

Turn the photo upside down and place the image right onto the paint. Use your fingers to gently smooth out any air bubbles.

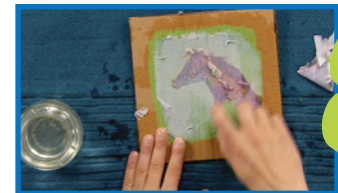

6

Set it aside to dry.

7

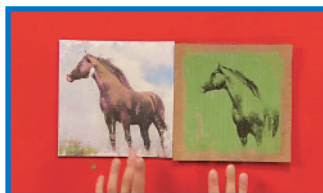

Once it's dry, it's time to peel away the paper. Place an old towel underneath the cardboard image, dip your fingers into a jar of water, and rub the water into the picture.

8

Once the paper is covered in water, pull away the paper. Use a sponge to scrub off any paper that doesn't come off easily.

Once all the paper is gone, you'll be left with an incredible image that looks a little bit different than the original.

You can also do photo transfer on canvas. it's not just magic – it's Artzooka photo transfer magic!
