

check list:

1. 12 old DVDs
2. 12 old CDs
3. colourful duct tape (blue, red, or yellow)
4. brass fasteners
5. plastic protective seals from milk or juice cartons
6. hole punch
7. binder rings

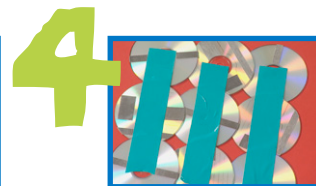

Lay two DVDs and one CD in a row, shiny side down, in this order: DVD, CD, DVD. Overlap them just a bit.

Make a row over top of the first row, but in this order: CD, DVD, CD. Make sure the row overlaps the first row just a bit.

Make a third row above the second row in this order: DVD, CD, DVD. All disks should be overlapping slightly.

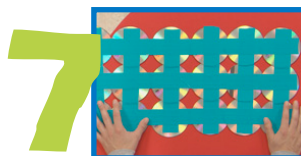

Now that the pattern is laid out, tape the DVDs and CDs together. Lay a strip of coloured duct tape over each row.

To connect all three rows, lay three strips of duct tape going the opposite way.

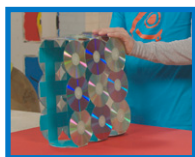

6 Repeat Steps 1 to 5 with more DVDs and CDs—only this time, make it five disks across instead of three. The pattern should be:
Top Row: CD, DVD, CD, DVD, CD

Tape these new disks to the three rows from Step 5. There should now be eight disks across the top.

Fold the disks into the shape of a bag. Fold up nine disks, leave a row of three on the bottom, fold up another nine disks, then fold over the last three disks.

Turn the bag over so the open sides are on the top and the bottom of the bag.

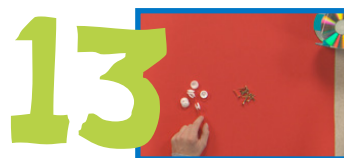

You need to make a bottom for the bag. Unfold the disks on the table. Make a new row of three disks and tape them together.

Place the new row under the first three rows of the bag on the left, and tape them into place.

Fold up the bag, like in Step 8, but this time also fold in the new row to make the bag's bottom. Tape the bag together on the inside using duct tape. What a shiny bag!

To Artzooka your bag even more, use brass fasteners and protective seals from milk or juice cartons.

Punch a hole in one of the seals using a hole punch.

Insert a brass fastener right through the top of the hole.

To attach the seal to the bag, use a pencil to poke a hole through the centre of one of the CDs. Insert the fastener and seal from Step 15 into the hole and fold back the fastener's prongs.

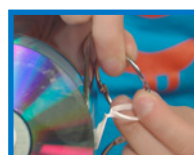

Cover your entire bag with seals and fasteners so it looks like the photo.

Make a strap for your bag using binder rings and more protective seals (just the ring part, though).

To attach the strap to the bag, open up a binder ring on one end of the strap. Loop the ring through a seal on the side of the bag (at the top), then close the binder ring. Attach the other end of the strap to the other side of the bag.

Fill your bag with art supplies and head over to a friend's house to Artzooka more crafts!
