1

Use scissors to cut a rectangle out of your paper. Make it about 7 inches long and four inches wide.

2

Fold the paper almost in half and leave about an inch at the top. Then fold the inch at the top down. It will now look like an envelope: The top part will act as a flap and the big bottom part will be the pouch that will hold the money.

3

First you need to tape the inside of the wallet. Unfold the paper and with duct tape, cover the inside of the paper.

5

Now fold the small flap down, and cover it with a different colour duct tape.

6

Now, flip the wallet over to cover the other side with duct tape. You can use any colour you like.

4

Fold and tape the extra duct tape to the other side of the paper.

Use scissors to trim the extra duct tape. It's okay to cut a little bit of the paper because it makes it easier to cut.

Snip the corners off the flap with scissors to make them rounded.

9

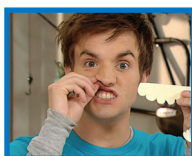

Cut a curved piece from the inside top part of the wallet.

10

Cut a row of upper and lower teeth out of card stock. Make sure that the upper teeth are larger than the lower teeth.

11

Duct tape the lower teeth to the inside of the bottom part, and the top teeth to the inside of the flap. If you have any teeth that are poking out too far, trim them with your scissors!

12

Take a long piece of duct tape and wrap it around the bottom part of your wallet so your money doesn't fall out.

Make a pair of eyes by cutting two circles out of paper, just a bit bigger than the metal washers. Scotch tape the metal washers to the paper circles and duct tape them to the front flap. Don't forget to colour in the eyes with a black marker!

14

If you want to make a loop so you can wear your wallet buddy, just fold a piece of duct tape in half and place it on the back side of the wallet. Tape two strips of duct tape on top and bottom of the folded piece making sure that you've created a little loop.

15

Thread an extra long shoelace or a string through the loop and you're now ready to wear your wallet!

Super! You've just made a duct tape wallet buddy. Now you just need to Artzooka some money to go in it!
