A face box is a neat box that holds a digital photo frame. It's a fun way to Artzooka your friends' pictures!

1

To begin, measure the width of your digital photo frame. This measurement is important because the outside of the face box (shown in the photo) must be a little more than double the width of your digital photo frame, in order for the acetate funny faces to easily slide in, then back out of, view.

2

To make the inside of the face box, cut a piece of cardboard about 10 cm longer than the height of your digital photo frame. Fold the ends of the cardboard up, then stick wooden skewers into each end, just like in the photo. Cut a second piece of cardboard the same size as the first. Set aside both pieces of cardboard for now.

Note: the wooden skewers should be approximately double the width of your photo frame.

3

Use a pencil to trace the outline of the digital photo frame screen on a white piece of paper.

4

Turn on the photo frame and trace a picture of your friend's face. Press lightly! You don't need much detail, just where the eyes, nose, and mouth are.

5

Remove your drawing off of the digital photo frame. Place a sheet of acetate (about the same width as your digital photo frame) on top of your drawing. Use a black marker to draw a funny face.

6

Cut two straws the same width as the acetate sheet. Wrap clear packing tape around the straws and tape them to the top and bottom of the acetate.

7

Take the cardboard and wooden skewers from Step 2. Slide the wooden skewers through the straws, then stick the other ends of the skewers into the second piece of cardboard.

8

Add more faces to the inside of your face box by repeating Steps 5 to 7.

9

To make the outside of the face box, find (or cut) a piece of cardboard a little wider and taller than the inside of your face box (from Step 8). Place the picture you drew of your friend on top of the cardboard, near the side. Use a pushpin to poke a hole in each corner of the digital photo frame outline.

10

Remove the paper and connect the dots with a pencil and ruler. You just drew a rectangle. Now cut it out.

11

Glue the cardboard (with the rectangle cut) to the front of the inside of the face box. Glue another piece of cardboard the same size (but without a rectangle cut!) on the back.

Tip: Add tabs to the top of each acetate sheet so you know which face is which. Label the tabs with small pictures or words.

12

Artzooka your box with colourful decorations like bottle caps and stars.

13

Place your digital photo frame inside the box (at the back and behind the row of acetate funny faces).

14

Slide the funny acetate faces in front of your friend's picture!

A face box lets you have a lot of fun with your friends even if they're not there. Have fun Artzooka-ing your besties!
