

Moving Tab Picture

check list:

1. construction paper
2. ruler
3. pencil
4. cotton batting
5. white glue
6. scotch tape
7. paper
8. wooden stir stick

1

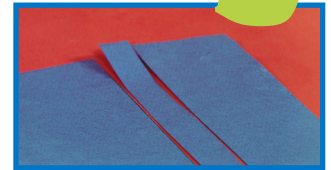

Use a pencil and ruler to draw a straight line on a piece of construction paper. Don't go all the way across the paper. Draw a second line on the other side of the ruler. This will be the track that your cloud moves along.

2

With scissors, cut along each line until the line stops.

3

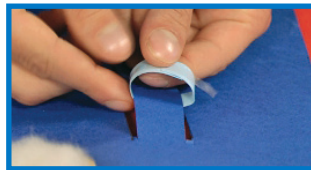

Carefully cut off just a little more paper on each side of the track to make sure that the cloud will be able to slide easily.

Now, make a cloud shape out of construction paper and glue cotton batten on it.

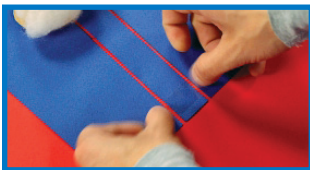

Cut a small strip of paper; make it into a loop, wrap it around the track and tape it closed. Make sure that you're able to slide the loop easily along the track.

Tape the cloud onto the loop.

6

Tape a small piece of tape across the end of the track so that it's attached to the rest of the construction paper. Now your cloud won't slide off the end.

7

Cut a long strip of construction paper wide enough to hide the stir stick and long enough to be a tab that you can pull back and forth.

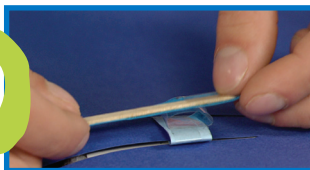

8

Using tape, attach the stir stick to the strip of construction paper.

10

Now, turn your picture over so that the cloud is facing down, and tape the stir stick to the sliding loop on the track.

11

Turn your picture back over. Create a yellow sun out of construction paper and tape it onto the picture at the end of the track.

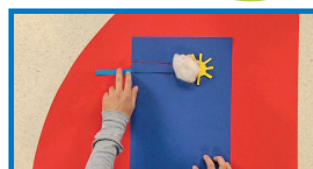

13

14

Now, when you pull the tab out the cloud will move away from the sun and let it shine...

12

And when you push the tab in, the cloud will cover the sun.

You can decorate your moving tab picture any way you like. You can disguise the moving tab by adding colourful strips of construction paper around your picture. Your picture can even have more than one moving tab, causing lots of fun movement in your picture! Be as creative as you want.
