1

Use crayons or pencil crayons to draw a treasure map. White paper works best.

2

To make the treasure map look really old, fray the edges. Start at the top corner of the map and slowly tear downwards. Move the strip back and forth as you tear to make the edge look really worn.

TIP: Use your finger as a guide so that the tear doesn't go too far into your map.

3

Rip the rest of the paper sides.

4

Take a damp tea bag and use it as a sponge to wipe the whole map. The tea bag will stain the map a yellowish brown colour. If the tea bag breaks, that's ok – just work the tea leaves into the paper and it will make the map look even older!

TIP: If you used water-based markers to draw your map, some of the lines might smudge a bit when you use the tea bag. Not to worry – you can always go over your lines later.

5

Set the treasure map aside to dry.

Once the map is dry, place extra paper under the treasure map. Now dip the tea bag in watered-down black paint and wipe the paint along all of the edges of your map. If you want you can use your finger to work the paint in!

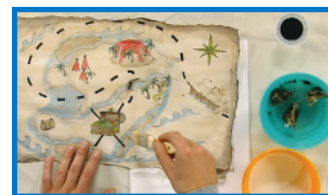

Set the treasure map aside to dry.

8

Brush the glue mix all over the map. This will give it a shiny finish.

9

If you want, you can even sprinkle glitter and add craft jewels to your map while the glue is still wet!

10

Set the treasure map aside to dry.

11

Once the map is dry, crumple it up. Now it looks like an ancient pirate map!
