1

Use masking tape to tape the picture you want to copy onto a piece of cardboard.

2

Cover the picture in plastic wrap and tape the wrap in place. Make sure the wrap is pulled really tight. Fold the extra wrap over and tape it on the back of picture.

3

Paint right on top of the picture. Have fun and be as creative and colourful as you want.

4

Once you're finished painting, place a piece of paper on top of your wet painting. Try not to move it around too much because you don't want to smudge the paint.

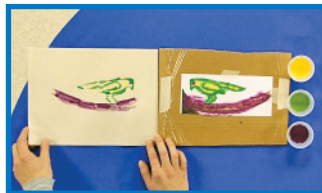

5

Once the paper is in place, use your hands or something fairly flat to slowly rub the whole painting. This will help the paint stick onto the paper.

6

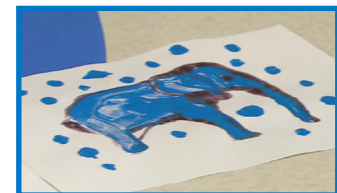

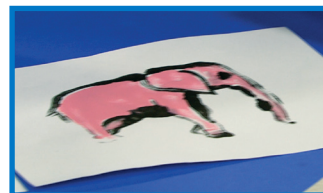

Once you're finished rubbing, slowly peel the paper off of the plastic. Tada! A perfect print!

7

If you want to make another print just wipe the plastic clean and start again. You can use the same colours, or you can try something new!

Below are three different prints all made from the same elephant picture. Just by using different paint colours and designs, you can create completely different prints.
