

check list:

1. construction paper (many different colours)
2. scissors
3. brown cardstock

Make different ponies using the same shapes.

1

Using the photo as a guide, cut out five bodies, heads, eyes, ears, and tails.

2

Place the pieces together to make a pony, just like in the photo. See the pony looking right at you? The head and ears are in front of the body and the tail is behind it.

3

Make a second pony. Put the head and one ear behind the body, and bring the tail to the front and place it above the legs. The pony is looking away from you. Cool!

4

Make a paddock for your ponies using brown cardstock for the ground, white paper for the fence, and green paper for the grass. Make the flowers any colour you want. Glue everything in place.

5

Make a pony that looks like it's going up a hill. Use two sets of legs this time, like in the photo.

6

To make it look like the pony is going down the hill, use two sets of legs, like in Step 5, but place the pony's head on top of the first set of legs, looking down. Use the example of the middle pony in the photo to place the shapes.

7

Make more ponies look in different directions by placing their body parts in different spots.

change the way each pony looks just by moving the shapes around—now that's Artzooka!!
